The amendment is in connection with a legal service contract for Planning Advance for Surveys and Plans for Romulus Urban Renewal Project. This will be in addition to legal work now performed by Young for the township at an annual salary, of $16,875.

The contract to perform legal services for Urban Renewal Office will be "not to exceed the sum of $3,000 for all services required."

The local Urban Renewal Office funds are federal monies approved by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development and a separate contract for services is required.

Funds Needed for Building Program

Planned Projects Costs
Are Highest in History

By HENRY CANTIN
Staff Writer

ROMULUS — An application for preliminary approval of a $11,000,000 school building bond issue to the State Department of Education, Lansing, has been authorized by the Board of Education of Romulus Community School District.

Robert L. McConeghy, school superintendent, filed the application with state educational officials last week. Such applications and findings are required under state laws.

The proposed 1970 school Building Program for the School District has a total approximate cost of $10,617,500 under request and recommendations submitted to the School Board recently by McConeghy.

The school superintendent at the time of his presentation on the proposed school building program reported that the proposed bond issue to finance the construction of the "necessary" building program, is the "biggest ever proposed in the history of the School District," and is due to the tremendous rise in building costs.

THE PROJECTS proposed have various completion dates and all of the bond issue, if approved, would not have to be sold during the 1970-71 school but carried out over two to three years, McConeghy said.

Millage Proposition that would have to be presented to the School District voters would depend on the rate of millage to cover that portion of the bond issue sold, he added. A list of proposed building projects submitted recently before the School Board is as follows:

NEW 20-room Elementary School, Completion date, 1971. Approximate Cost, $1,560,000.

New 20-room Elementary School, Completion date, 1973. Approximate Cost, $1,800,000.

New 39 Teaching Station, 130,000 square feet Junior High School, Completion date, 1972. Approximate Cost, $5,551,000.

New 7-room Addition to Beverly School, Completion date, 1971. Approximate Cost, $619,500.

New 5-room Addition to Harrison School, Completion date, 1971. Approximate Cost $509,000.

New 6,800 square feet Media Center Addition to Cory School, Completion date, 1972. Approximate Cost, $289,000.

New 6,800 square feet Media Center Addition to Mt. Pleasant School, Completion date, 1973. Approximate Cost, $289,000.

TOTAL APPROXIMATE COSTS — $10,617,500.

DISMISSED ONE CASE

Court Delays Hearing On Candy Sale Charges

ROMULUS—Upon request of defense attorney, District Judge James B. Stone, postponed the Dec. 17 examination of three men charged with larceny by conversion in the non-return of monies collected in the Little League Candy Sale held in Romulus Township during last June.

The hearing will now be held at 2 p.m. Jan. 14.

Similar charges against a fourth defendant was dismissed by the court on motion of the assistant prosecutor, who reported that restitution had been made.

The warrants against the four persons were issued by the court on recommendation of Assistant Wayne County Prosecutor Joseph Consanto following an investigation by Police Chief Jacob J. Koch. Robert J. Wallicki, president of the Romulus Little League Baseball Committee, made the complaint.

Charges filed against Wallace Brown, 35, of 6291 Edmund, Wayne were dismissed when Brown made restitution of $132. The money was accepted in the "best interest of justice," it was stated.

Others awaiting the delayed hearing are:

Walter Worden, 35, of 30730 Dorest, Romulus
James Grizzle, 26, of 6675 Gloria, Wayne
Ken Ramey, 26, of 6687 Gloria, Wayne.

O, HOLY NIGHT...

Area Churches Schedule Special Christmas Programs

In area churches this Christmas season, Christians everywhere gather to commemorate the miracle of a holy night, nearly 2,000 years ago with Special Christmas Services.

The message of Christmas lives anew - in candlelight and carols, in pageants and prayers.

"And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly hosts praising God and saying, Glory to God in the highest and on earth peace, good will toward men." - Luke 2:13-14

JOYFULLY, the happiness of Christmas finds expression in music and song. Choirs sing the praises of the Babe of Bethlehem, and sacred hymns and carols reflect the spirit of rejoicing. Even as the herald angels sang to shepherds long ago, so now exultant voices join in proclaiming the Birth of Christ, with "on earth peace, good will toward men."

"And it came to pass, as the angels were gone away from them into heavens, the shepherds said one to another, Let us now go even unto Bethlehem, and see this thing which has come to pass, which the Lord hath made known to us.

"And they came with haste, and found Mary and Joseph, and the Babe lying in a manger." - Luke 2:15-16.

ALONG WITH the joyous exultation, there is a spirit of thankful humility in celebration of this holy day. In both area churches and private devotionals, Christians ponder anew the word of the Christmas story, as it was told by two of His disciples, Matthew and Luke.

And it is beheld, symbolically, in Nativity scenes that, by treasured tradition, recreate the manger of His birth.

Thus Christmas is celebrated, joyfully, prayerfully, solemnly, with dedication to its sacred meaning: The Child born in a manger was the Son of God, destined to take up the burdens of mankind and bear them to the Cross, where he died that the spirit of man might live forever.

SCHOOL RATE UP

Romulus Property Owners Pay Higher Tax in 1969

ROMULUS—Property owners of Romulus Township will pay increased property taxes for 1969, figures released by the Wayne County Bureau of Taxation disclosed.

The higher tax amounts are reflected in current tax bills (1969) mailed to township taxpayers.

Taxpayers are required to pay the taxes due between Dec. 1 and through Feb. 15, without penalty. Afterwards the tax collection is turned over to the county with added penalties to the property owner.

AN INCREASE in school millage, approved by the voters of Romulus Community School District last year, is reason cited township deputy assessor Harold L. Reiner for the tax rate boost. This increase is a four mill hike per $1,000 of property valuation, state equalized.

The 1969 Wayne County Tax is 7.16 mills; township tax is 10.29 mills which includes operations and debt retirement taxes. The school tax for the 1969 year is 31.88 mills per $1,000 property valuation as shown by the County Bureau of Taxation. This is up four mills over the 1968 school tax rate.

THE TAX computer factor used to determine the property tax for 1969 (based on total property valuation) is higher than the factor used by taxing authorities in 1968.

The 1969 factor set by the Bureau of Taxation, is 1.74 as against 1.67 in 1968, Reiner reported.

Increase in property valuations throughout the township as elsewhere, will mean more tax money being collected.

ALTHOUGH THERE is no increase in the county or township tax rate for 1969, the higher property valuations will make for higher tax payments.

Tax rates for Romulus Township for 1969 are computed on a total property valuation, state equalized, of $109,234,695. This compares with a total of $90,659,835. Romulus residents residing in the Wayne Community School District will pay a total tax of $60.13 per $1,000; those in the Woodhaven (Hand Fr. No 11) school area will pay $39.55 per $1,000.

Choir Brightens Meeting

SUMPTER—The fifth and sixth grade choir at Sumpter Elementary School, led by Spencer Mack, held a half hour choral prior to the December PTO meeting for attending parents on Dec. 2.

The fine program was a combination of popular and Christmas songs that brightened the spirits of all who heard. The children had a party during the official PTO meeting.

New Poor

Associated Press writer Neil Gilbride reports from Washington that according to government studies, it takes nearly $4,000 a year for a retired couple to maintain a "moderate" standard of living.

If the proposed increase in social security, as recommended by President Nixon, becomes law, the average retired couple's income will be a shade above that required for a government's definition of a "moderate" standard of living.

In the meantime, as inflation continues, millions of people on fixed incomes will drop into the ranks of those that face virtual starvation.

Unless inflation can be controlled, government handouts can never keep pace with the declining value of money. Benevolent programs put forth by phony humanitarians for spending more billions of federal dollars will mean little to individual citizens whose life savings are washed away by inflation.

Give Me The Eyes Of A Child

Though years of time have swiftly passed
And many thrills beguiled,
As Christmas time appears again,
Lord, Give me the eyes of a child.

Thoughts of former Christmas days
Recall the times I thrilled and smiled,
Golden carefree days of joy
When I was but a child.

No troubles then, or worried brow,
Life was so child-like mild,
Relieve the fears that haunt me now;
Give me the eyes of a child.

When one grows older, values change,
The mind so quickly is defiled,
I plead to know Christmas joy again
Through the eyes of a child.

The Public Letter Box

TO THE EDITOR:

On behalf of the over 72,000 Legionnaires of The American Legion of Michigan, we want to wish you a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year. We appreciate the tremendous support you have given us not only this year, but in all the previous years as well.

Without your help, it would be pretty hard to keep the citizens of Michigan informed on the many things that are being accomplished through our fine programs, which affect everybody...veteran and non-veteran. How else would people know that our Children's Home at Otter Lake is considered the finest in the state and cares for the children of all war veterans ... that each year our American Legion Boys' State program at Michigan State University provides 1,300 high school scholars at no cost to them with the finest 'lab' course in city, county and state government offered anywhere ... that the American Legion Hospital at Battle Creek is one of the finest rehabilitation hospitals in the United States and is open to all citizens ... that we give 30 scholarships to high school students each year and operate The American Legion Oratorical Contest which helps build better citizens.

We thank you for wonderful cooperation and F. Gerrit Veldman, State Commander of The American Legion of Michigan, hopes that you will continue to support us during our second fifty years of service. Seasons Greetings to you and yours.

AMERICAN LEGION

TO THE EDITOR:

You will be pleased to learn that several firsts were scored in connection with the Savings Bond program in Michigan during 1969.

We had as one of our goals the enrollment of 134,400 wage and salary earners as new savers or for increased payroll savings allotments. Ours was the first state in the nation to top its over-all mark and by year's end more than 175 per cent of the quota will have been attained.

Intensive campaigns were conducted in eight of the state's major labor market areas to step up Savings Bonds and Freedom Share purchases via the payroll savings plan, and goals were set for each.

Metropolitan Detroit's new savers/increased allotments quota was 85,000. This area was the first major labor market to exceed its quota, and by the end of the year well over 150 per cent of the quota will have been achieved.

ANOTHER STELLAR performance was chalked up in Genesee County. New enrollments and increased payroll savings plan allotments there numbered nearly 55,000 - equivalent to more than 700 per cent of the 7,500 campaign goal and ahead of all other campaign areas in the country by a wide margin.

The campaigns in Saginaw Kent, and Bay counties also were extremely successful with attainment of 361, 211, and 203 per cent respectively of the assigned goals.

We are most appreciative of the fine support given the bond program by Michigan newspapers. Your continued support is tremendously important.

To you and your staff we send warmest good wishes for the holiday season.

Noted Urban Planner Cites Cities' Car-People Problem

ANN ARBOR—The world's cities are turning into places better suited for cars than for people, according to a noted urban planner.

Constantinos A. Doxiadis, a Greek expert on urban development, told an audience at the University of Michigan this week (Dec. 15) that technology is taking over our cities.

Doxiadis heads the Detroit Urban Area project, a study which is drawing up a plan of development for all southeastern Michigan.

WE NEED cars and we'll need more and more of them he noted, "but if we keep the cars in the same place as humans, we can't have a humanistic city."

He blamed automobiles for making cities hard to live in, and noted that the streets and parking lots needed to handle Detroit's cars take up two-thirds of the city's area.

Doxiadis said an efficient mass transit system would be "a partial solution to the problem," but he commented that "once man reaches a certain level of freedom he won't want to give it up, so the personal transportation vehicle is here to stay forever."

HE RECOMMENDS establishing sectors

throughout cities where cars and industry are banned so that people can combine the relaxed qualities of suburbs with the advantages of cities.

Doxiadis deplored the mass exodus to the suburbs by those who can afford to move.

"The study shows there will be no people living in the city of Detroit in the year 2000" unless the trend is reversed, Doxiadis said, commenting on one of the surveys his project did in southeastern Michigan.

He blamed the mass desertions on over all deterioration of the city, and on growing traffic problems. The trend can only be reversed by revitalizing the city with "highly humanized centers" placed among industrial pockets.

WHAT'S IN store for the future? Doxiadis predicts the development of worldwide networks of interconnected cities which he calls ecumenopolises.

"The universal city is inevitable," he said. "But the conditions in it, if we let current trends continue, will be very, very bad."

Doxiadis admits that nobody has all the answers to problems facing our cities, but puts hope in man's total intellectual capacity, which he says will grow even though the population as a whole is expected to level off within the next century.

Romulus Police Chief Jacob J. Koch reported that the couple were found in a parking lot at a vacant building, located on Gabriel Street early Wednesday afternoon, Dec. 17.

They were identified as Geneva Rupert, 19, of 11095 Moore, Romulus; and Alfred Williams, 22, of 11318 Moore, Romulus.

OVER HOLIDAYS

Area Police Agencies Issue Safe Driving Plea

Area traffic law enforcement officials join Michigan State Police in an united appeal for safe driving over the Holidays.

The new State Police helicopter, weather permitting, will participate in its first holiday traffic surveillance when it joins other department units in the Christmas and New Year weekend patrols. Col. Frederick E. Davis, director, added.

Again assisting trooper-manned patrol cars will be the department's regular single wing planes, as weather and other factors permit. The helicopter and one of the regular craft operate out of East Lansing and Lansing, the other two planes out of Traverse City and Marquette.

COMPLEMENTING THE holiday traffic surveillance by officers will be speed computer-equipped patrol cars for checking on speeding motorists and the availability of breath-testing equipment for all law enforcement agencies in checking on suspected drunk drivers.

Davis noted that the department's weekend patrols will be of 102 hours duration each, beginning at noon Wednesday, Dec. 24, for the Christmas period and at noon

Wednesday, Dec. 31 for New Year's.

THE PATROLS will continue through Sunday midnight in each period. Supplementing the patrols will be personnel from the State Police vehicle check lane program.

Michigan traffic deaths numbered eight in the 30-hour Christmas period last year and nine during the similarly long New Year's time.

In the previous 102-hour period for those two holidays in 1962-63, traffic deaths totaled 22 for Christmas and 20 for New Year's.

Municipal Complex Bids On Construction Studied

ROMULUS—Construction bids received for the proposed Municipal Complex in Romulus are being reviewed by O'Dell, Hewlett & Luckenbach, Inc., architects, engineers and planners. Township Supervisor Roderick E. Smith, announced.

Sealed bids for the architectural, mechanical and electrical portions of the township's new Municipal Building were received at the Township Hall Dec. 18. Township Clerk Alfred J. Perry reported that there were 10 architectural bids, 12 mechanical bids and 14 electrical bids received.

architects last February," Said Smith. "Ten months have elapsed and the cost factor shown is very well in line," he added.

IT WAS pointed out that the many bids received indicated the lack of available work and tight money. Romulus Building Authority had received approval from the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission of a $1,975,000 bond issue to finance construction costs.

The Municipal Complex is to be built on a 16-acre land site, located at the southeast corner of Wayne and Goddard Roads.

The initial phases of the complex will take eight acres of the site and will be the Municipal Building and a Public Library. A town Square and Recreation and Sports Center is also planned. When the entire project is completed it will consist of a four-building civic center that will also embrace a police headquarters and a community center.

Township officials have set Dec. 22 as the deadline for receiving Bond Sale Bids.

SAYS CHIEF KOCH

Anti-Freeze Belongs In Cars, Not Drivers

Romulus—Chief of Police Jacob J. Koch worries about Romulus' traffic record like the rest of us worry about next month's Christmas bills.

Today, Chief Koch was both concerned and emphatic.

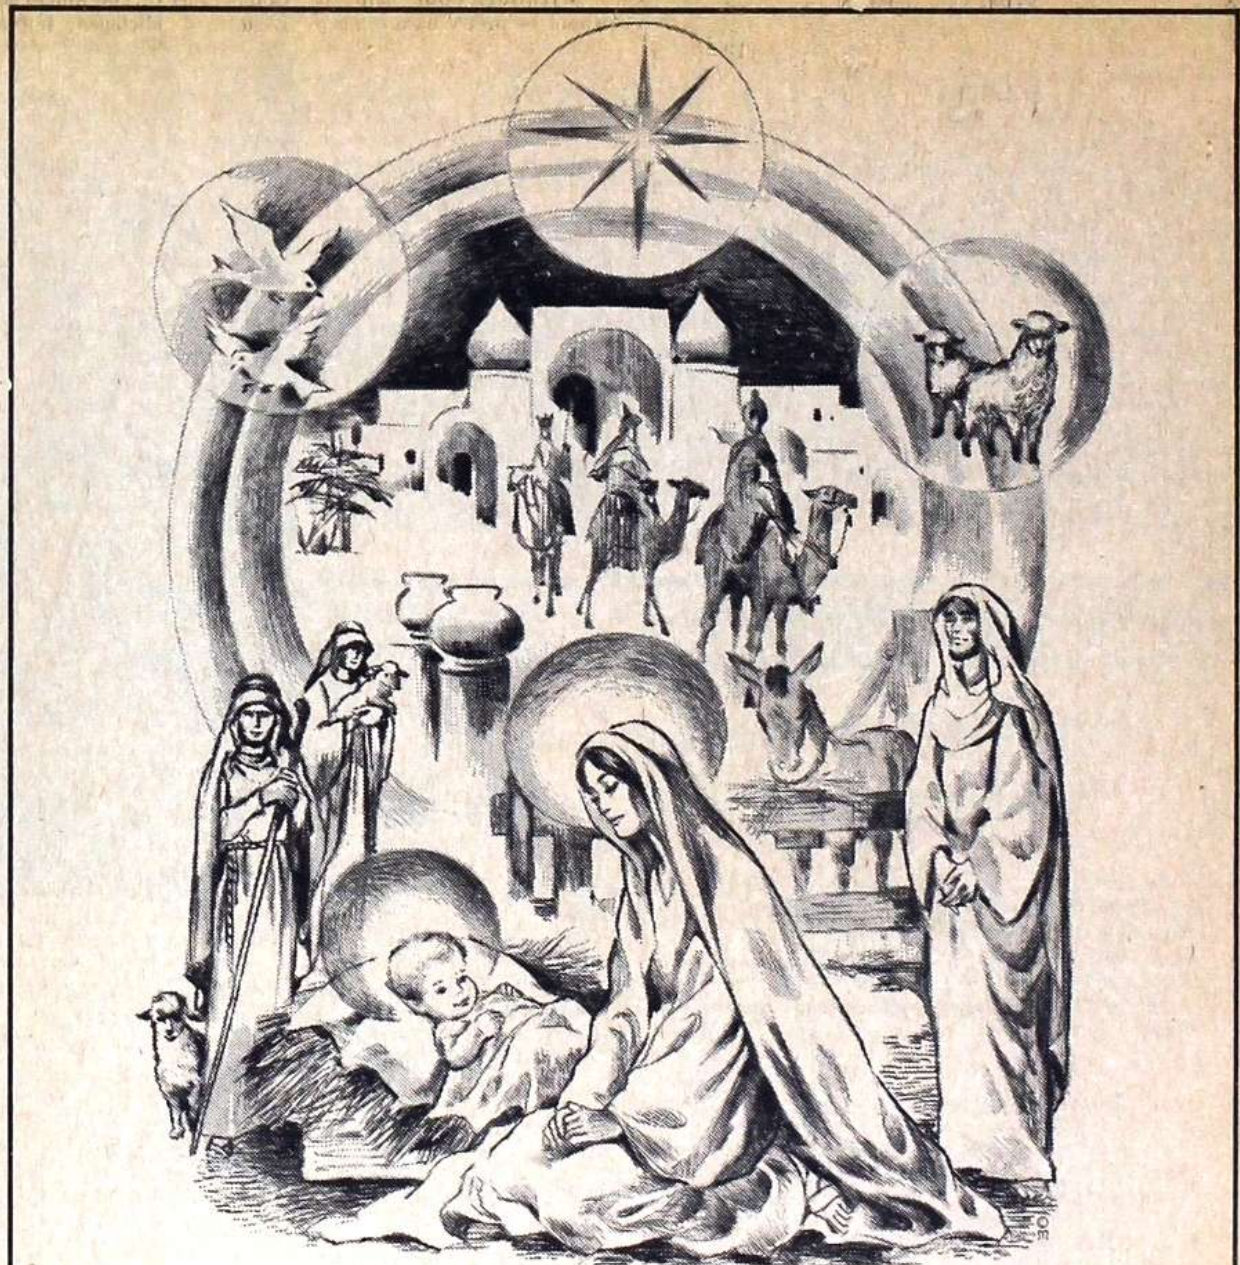

He was concerned about the traditional holiday pattern of parties, drinking and winter weather that is already showing signs of pushing the local accident curve upward.

"Research and study information circulated to us from the International Association of Chiefs of Police indicates that alcohol is a factor in as many as half of the traffic accidents," he said. "The Christmas-New Year round of festivities often includes more alcohol than many of us can take."

CHIEF KOCH was emphatic about the measures his department is taking to hold down holiday traffic problems. "If you think you can drink freely at parties and then slide behind the wheel of your car hoping you can 'get away with it this time' remember this fair warning:

"Our department will be out with all the manpower we can muster to protect you — and others — from your own dangerous thinking."

"We may not win popularity contests with those who can't seem to say 'no thanks' soon enough," the chief concluded. "But we are determined to see that our drinking and driving laws are strictly and fairly enforced!"

GLAD CHRISTMAS TIDINGS

May the peace and joy which radiates from the heart of the Holy Child, fill you and yours with the wonder and splendor of this Blessed Season. And may the miracle of His coming be an inspiration and comfort to you always. Best wishes for a joyous Christmas.

Vocational Education Should Have Priority

One generally ignored provision of the educational reform legislation now being considered by the State House of Representatives is the proposal to create large regional school districts across the state.

The regional districts would have specific areas of responsibility—one of which is vocational education.

Vocational education—including industrial arts such as woodworking, carpentry, and trade skills, like electronics and drafting—is currently being handled within each small school district. Sometimes the programs are limited to each high school.

Gone are the fine technical high schools that once educated many of our young people. Now each high school in Western Wayne must offer something for each student.

Currently being considered is a plan to set up regional vocational education centers—perhaps something like the old technical high schools—where students with special skills can develop them within the public education system.

Students could be learning computer programming and key-punch skills; cold-type offset printing and make-up; design techniques needed by the auto companies; advanced mechanics and electronics, and many other programs.

The advantage, of course, is cost. A centralized system of vocational education can allow better facilities, better equipment, better teachers and better financing—something local school districts simply cannot do.

By now it must be perfectly obvious to taxpayers of Michigan that programs like these will not come about unless we try some new method of financing them—like on a regional basis.

Despite the very good intentions of local school districts, the vocational education programs are desperately underfunded, too narrow in scope, and highly inadequate for the needs of the students.

There simply isn't enough money in each district to support a really good vocational education program. But, by pooling all of their resources, local districts could support a regional vocational center on a worthwhile basis.

We strongly support efforts to improve the position of Western Wayne County school districts in the field of vocational education. We hope the legislature in its wisdom sees fit to put vocational education high on the lists of educational reform needs.

Use Your Head

Christmas can be a wonderful holiday for all of us if we use our heads.

The holiday spirit that fills all of us during the next two weeks sometimes causes our better judgment to depart from us temporarily. The Automobile Club of Michigan is trying to do something about it. It makes good sense to accept the fact that alcoholic beverages will be part of the Christmas and New Year merriment for many of our holiday drivers.

In the words of the Automobile Club, "It is practical to realize that some people will drink during the holidays. Perhaps we can urge successfully moderation, and attention to safety by both hosts and guests."

If you are going to drive during the holidays, be sure of yourself and your condition when you have been drinking. Don't leave the party until you are sure you can function properly on the road.

Don't drink too much. Know your limit and exercise some self-control. Let the non-drinker drive wherever possible.

If you are the host, don't send your guests home when they are not prepared to drive. Before the hour is late, put away your liquor so the guests have a chance to sober up before starting home.

A WORD FITLY SPOKEN

His Name is Wonderful

By James Bradley

At this Christmas season I want to tell you about the sweetest, most wonderful name I've ever heard. It's the name of Jesus Christ, the Son of God—the One God sent, angels announced, disciples followed, wicked men crucified and sinners have trusted for almost two thousand years.

The Prophet Isaiah said it best: "For unto us a child is born, unto us a son is given; and the government shall be upon his shoulder; and his name shall be called Wonderful, Counselor, The mighty God, The everlasting Father, The Prince of Peace." (Isaiah 9:6)

Christ was wonderful in His BIRTH. The Angel of the Lord announced His birth to shepherds as the dark Judean hillside was bathed in radiant effulgence: "For unto you is born this day in the city of David, a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord." (Luke 2:11). Not only was the announcement wonderful, His virgin birth was a miracle. St. Luke tells us: "The Angel Gabriel was sent from God... to a virgin (whose) name was Mary." The angel told Mary she would "conceive and bring forth a son, and thou shalt call his name Jesus."

"How shall this be, seeing I know not a Man?" was Mary's puzzled reply. The angel answered, "The Holy Ghost shall come upon thee, and the power of the Highest shall overshadow thee: therefore also that holy thing which shall be born of thee shall be called the Son of God." (St. Luke 1:34, 35).

Jesus was wonderful in His WORDS. "Never man spake like this man," responded His astonished listeners, and "all bare him witness, and wondered at the gracious words which proceeded out of his mouth."

He was wonderful in His LIFE. "He went about doing good," Scripture records. His life was a symphony of sympathy, a pageant of passion, a mission of mercy.

He was wonderful in His DEATH. He accomplished more in 33½ years on earth than others do in a lifetime. But it was his sacrificial death on Calvary that made possible St. John 3:16: "For God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten son that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life."

Lastly, Jesus was wonderful in his RESURRECTION. He rose bodily from the tomb, triumphant over sin, death, hell and the grave and is now "at the right hand of God, who also maketh intercession for us."

Jesus, You're the sweetest name I know. And at this Christmas season I want to thank you publicly for dying for me and to wish you a very "Happy Birthday!"

The Great White Hunter

By Jim Fitzgerald

(Ed. Note: Another oldie but goodie from Jim Fitzgerald)

Me visiting a hunting preserve is similar to the Pope vacationing in Las Vegas. But I did it and now I know all about fishing for pigeons and other such rugged outdoor stuff.

Preston Mann was my host. He runs the Hunters Creek Club in the wilds of Metamora or Dryden of somewhere around there. I didn't drop bread crumbs so I'd never be able to find my way back without a safari guide. But that's ok, I didn't leave anything behind except an empty bottle. Mann is as genial a host as you'll find in any wilderness anywhere, but you do have to bring your own bottle.

The first thing I noticed about Mann's club was his frozen zoo. There are huge, toothy animal heads protruding all over the place. Moose, and bear and wolves and other permanent snarlies. I checked the flip side of all the walls. I didn't really expect to find furry hind ends but it didn't hurt anything to make sure all the windows were closed, did it?

Besides being a rich white hunter, Preston Mann is a dog trainer. Currently he is worrying that Uncle Sam might find need for his dogs in Vietnam. Mann says he wouldn't actually encourage canine protesting, but he has supplied his dogs with matches in case they want to burn their draft cards.

Anyway, I have always been awed by dogs that point at live birds, which I suppose I could do, and then pick up dead birds in their mouths, which I never would. I asked Preston to show me how he trained dogs to perform such nonsense and he said sure, he'd get his fishing rod and be right with me.

If you are as indoorsy as I am, you are probably wondering why he needed a fishing pole for his bird-dog operation. I figured he was putting me on. But no. There came that clown with a pigeon harnessed to a fishing line. He put the bird in the grass and turned the dog loose. It soon went stiff at the pigeon. Preston then fired a pistol in the dog's ear. The pigeon took off. But not far. Preston reeled it in on his fishing rod to play again another day.

He said he saved more pigeons that way. I'll tell you, this club probably has a bigger turnover in members than in birds. Later I wanted tea at lunch but someone else was using the teabag.

My attention was caught by 3 men shooting at rocks someone was throwing at them from a little backhouse. I asked Preston why the hunters didn't storm the backhouse and shoot heck out of the enemy before he got airborne. He said it was time for lunch.

Which was delicious. Preston served trout he'd caught in the club lake. He said it was common for members to dine on what they had killed. The 4 guys at the next table were having hamburgers.

Several times a familiar face walked by. I finally realized who it was.

"Hey, that's Tobin Rote," I said, quite thrilled.

Three people at our table didn't know who Tobin Rote was. Imagine. One of the finest quarterbacks the Detroit Lions ever had.

Boy, if there's one thing that bugs me, it's people who don't know anything about sports.

Wedding Bells Ring

By Dann Barkume

Wednesday evening brought about an unprecedented action as the one and only Tiny Tim exchanged wedding vows with his 17-year old bombshell, Miss Vicki. A few hundred million people were on hand through the courtesy of Johnny Carson and the miracle of television.

Tiny Tim looked ravishing in a suit designed especially for the occasion. His long, curly hair swooped low over his shoulders.

Vicki Tim wore a floor length wedding gown for the short and simple ceremony. It was reported that the couple had a hand in the writing of the vows that they exchanged.

The set was finished in tulips which were flown in specially for the occasion. The studio was kept at a chilly 55 degrees in order to keep the flowers from wilting.

This writer stayed up in order to witness the event and all I can say is that I was a little bit over tired on Thursday morning. I was surprised at the seriousness of the affair. In reality, if you take away all of the lights and TV cameras and a couple of million people, it would have been like any other wedding, almost.

The only difference would have been that the groom's hair was longer than the bride's.

Oh well, to each his own, I guess.

December weddings seem to glow with the joy of the season and this was no exception as the two newlyweds were content to gaze longingly into each others eyes. They were perfectly happy with one another.

Tiny then serenaded his new wife with a song which was supposedly written just for her. His masculine falsetto pierced the airways as he strummed his strings and pledged his love through song.

Lovely.

The evening was capped off by a toast, champagne for the guests and the couple in question toasted one another with their favorite beverage, milk and honey, which Mr. Tim was quick to clarify as uncooked.

Too bad we couldn't go to the reception. It would have been nice.

I don't know how you felt about it, but I was just a little bit confused. Here I was attending the wedding of one of America's most well-known and controversial entertainers. I witnessed the exchange of vows and was there for the toast.

Tonight, I think I'll go bowling.

Peace Is Still A Goal

By Richard McKnight

To say, "Peace" this Christmas is like shouting down an empty rain barrel. All you seem to hear is your own voice echoing back.

Among the Christmas cards each of us probably is receiving this year, are many which include the word "Peace" prominently on the card.

It is a universal wish; the thing to say.

You don't have to be a dove on Vietnam to want peace. Peace, and the desire for it, is once again in vogue. Everybody is doing it, you might say.

There is something sad about this great feeling among our friends and associates — this feeling that peace is perhaps a little nearer this Christmas than it was the last Christmas and the last.

Somehow, through a good public relations sales pitch by our government, we have been convinced that "Peace" is near, or relatively near; and that, at any rate, we are making progress toward winning it.

I don't believe it; and I won't.

The reason why I won't believe that peace is near is because it is still so distant. I will not allow myself the luxury of complacency, or the feeling of well being, until no more men are dying in Laos, Biafra, Israel or Vietnam.

In fact, this Christmas, the small light we now see as Peace is no more than a goal, at last visible, that should make us fight harder and testify more often of the great need for the American people to at last make their peace with themselves and the world. War is just a larger extension of the violence which is within us.

We are still at war with ourselves; race against race, creed against creed, countryman against countryman. What peace we have earned, or can see in the future, will mean very little while the war within ourselves continues.

So, Christmas should rightly be a time to think about the unfinished business of our nation and people. True, we have much to our credit; but, how very much we are capable of doing.

Wherever joy and Christmas find each other, people should enjoy being together, and sharing goodwill. But don't have too much fun, nor forget, that war goes on and men die.

Don't we owe these men this much?

Employees of Area Firm Honored for Long Service

DETROIT—The executive suite and the production line stood side by side for honors at the 23rd annual Quarter Century Club meeting and banquet for senior service employees of the Automotive Divisions of North American Rockwell Corporation.

Colonel W.F. Rockwell, 81, honorary chairman of the board of North American Rockwell received top honors marking 50 years service with the company.

Sharing the spotlight with 45 years service each were Carl B. Black, executive vice president of the Automotive Divisions and Floyd Bennett, machinist at the Detroit Transmission and Axle Plant. Both men officially retired earlier this year but were given current awards because they were employed in 1969.

MASTER OF CEREMONIES for the program was Fred W. Parker, Jr., Automotive Divisions president and a 42 year service veteran himself. More than 750 persons were on hand to see 36 new employees join the club and an additional 182 members receive milestone awards.

The Quarter Century Club is for employees who have reached 25 years of service with the Automotive Divisions of North American Rockwell.

Each year, in addition to the "youngsters" welcomed into the club, special awards are made to current employees who achieve milestone service anniversaries of 30, 35, 40 and 45 years with the Divisions. Retirees who were members while working are invited back each year to join in the annual festivities.

INVITATIONS WERE sent to long service employees in 15 of the 31 facilities of the Automotive Divisions. They are located in Detroit and Troy, Michigan; Pittsburgh and New Castle, Pennsylvania; Ashtabula, Newark and Kenton, Ohio;

Windsor, Bracebridge and Perry Sound, Ontario; Winchester, Kentucky and Grenada, Mississippi. The other plants in the Automotive Divisions hold their own local Quarter Century parties in the various plant cities.

The Automotive Divisions, the world's leading independent supplier of automotive components together with nine other major divisions, comprise North American Rockwell, the 29th largest industrial corporation in the United States.

How to Remove Holiday Stains

Christmas is a time for much merriment, but sometimes festivities result in a mishap - a spill resulting in a stain for Mom to cope with.

Most stains can be removed easily if the cause of the stain is known. Here are ways to remove some of the most common holiday stains as suggested in The Maytag Encyclopedia of Home Laundry.

CANDLE WAX - Scrape as much wax as possible off the fabric, using a dull knife. To remove remaining wax, place the fabric between two blotters and iron it with a warm iron. Any stain that remains can be removed with trichloroethane (fireproof Energine). Rinse and launder.

COFFEE AND TEA - Stretch the garment over a basin and pour boiling water, if safe for the fabric, through the spot. Launder, using a bleach recommended for type of fabric. If boiling water cannot be used, soak the fabric in warm water to which the proper type of bleach has been added. Launder. Grease spots from cream can be removed with trichloroethane (fireproof Energine).

ALCOHOLIC BEVERAGES - Sponge with cold water, then glycerine and water. Rinse with vinegar water, followed by a clear rinse. Launder as you normally would.

FRUIT - Where boiling water can be used, stretch cloth over a bowl and pour boiling water through it. If the stain remains, sponge with lemon juice solution or hydrogen peroxide. Where boiling water cannot be used, sponge well in cool water. Work glycerine into stain. Let it stand several hours, then add a few drops of white vinegar and rinse thoroughly. Launder.

(If stained article cannot be washed with chlorine bleach and hot water, the use of laundry additives containing enzymes may remove these stains.)

PORK FILLETS

Many homemakers have braised pork shoulder steaks, but here's the way they can come to the table in a new fashion as broiled filets. If the retailer does not remove the blade or shoulder bone, make it a do-it-yourself project with a small sharp knife.

Each boned steak is then wrapped with a strip of bacon, secured with a wooden pick. Broil at moderate temperature, turning once. If the filets (that's what they're called when boned) are one-half to three-fourths of an inch in thickness, the total cooking time is 20 to 25 minutes.

All Around The Town

... with Lee Smith
Women's Editor

Merry Christmas Everyone!

I SURELY DO hate to mention this at such an inopportune time but - if you don't have your shopping finished yet, you're in trouble. There are only a few precious hours left (just in case you needed that brilliant bit of information).

Just hope no one else was as disorganized as 'yours truly' this pre-holiday season. Don't know exactly what went wrong but something sure fouled me up. But, by golly, I've been working at the problem these past few days and I just might make it after all.

Amidst all the gay, festive confusion, tho', I'd love to include my best wishes for the happiest of holiday seasons.

Christmas - Birthday Combo

OUT AT the Lake Pointe Pass home of John and Marge Roberts, there was a family get-together last Saturday evening which marked not only the pending holiday but the very first birthday of their granddaughter, Tytti Liisa Barnett.

Called "Liisa" by all who know her, the little miss is the daughter of Mike and Vicki Barnett. While Daddy's away with the U.S. Marines in Vietnam, Liisa and her mom are making their home with Vickie's parents, the Roberts'.

On hand for the dual celebration, which included making homemade ice cream and exchanging Christmas gifts, were members of Marge's family - James and Ruth Nelson and daughter, Debbie, and daughter-in-law, Becky Nelson, whose hubby is over in Thailand with the U.S. Air Force. They're all from Ypsilanti. Then there were L.A. and Opal Watts, their two sons, Don and John, and daughter Linda and her fiance, Charlie, all from Garden City.

Then on Tuesday night - Liisa's actual birth date - Vicki invited a number of friends and relatives to join in the fun that comes with a little one's first candle blowing.

Guests included Eva and Gary Foster, who are in from Cherry Pointe, North Carolina (January 14th Gary leaves for Marine duty on Okinawa while his wife remains here with her parents.)

Other well-wishers here Liisa's grandparents and uncle, the Taft Barnetts and Tim; Donovan, Lillian and Barb Partridge; Alma Kirchner, and Connie Squeelch.

Arriving from Vietnam, a few weeks ago was a gigantic stuffed green turtle which Liisa's daddy sent her for the big occasion, and she's been having a ball climbing all over her newly-found friend.

Club Members, Friends Invited

SATURDAY EVENING December 13, will go down as a real fun time for those who turned out for Bob and Mildred Baker's holiday party. Members of a couple's club which has met socially for the past 20 years, the Bakers, of Clarence Street, took their turn at entertaining with the following clubsters present: Arden and Audrey Klopschinsky and Harold and Georgianna Fry, all from Wayne; Eldon and Marie Lamkin, of Willis; Herb and Dolores Shock and Ray and Roberta Shrock, all from Ypsilanti. And Ray and Lee Van Buhler and Ray and Ginny Memering, of Belleville.

Others invited for the evening were neighbors, Clyde and Marian Batzer and Bud and Frances Stapleton; former across-the-streeters, Ed and Mary Anne Hudge; Larry and Carol Minick, of Willis, and the Bakers two sons, Bob and Jim; Bob and his wife, Nina, arriving from Flint, and Jim and his date, Debbie Hayden, from Michigan State.

A number of games, dancing, exchanging little gifts (by means of hilarious 'take or grab' game,) and a buffet lunch were all part of the Baker's plans. In keeping with the holiday theme, Mildred used red poinsettias on a white cloth and table appointments utilizing the many silver items she and Bob received on their 25th wedding anniversary.

Here 'N There

IN RECENTLY from a sun-filled sojourn in the Grand Bahamas (where the temps averaged a pleasant 80 degrees) are Milton and Ruth Smith, of Wabash Street, and Russell and Laurie Buck and Daughter, Susan, of E. Huron River Drive. The quintet made their headquarters at the Holiday Inn during their week-long stay ... PATTY RICHIE, a junior at Belleville High, and her cousin, Suzanne Guisasa, a BHS alumna, will leave the day after Christmas for Berea College at Berea, Kentucky. Until their return in January they will take advantage of a special Christmas School which features arts, crafts, and foreign folk dancing.

While Patti Patty is heading south, her sister, Sue, will be winging her way out to the West Coast. A junior at the University of Michigan, she will be among the many taking a chartered trip to Pasadena to see her team compete in the Rose Bowl... MRS. MINA Wellwood, daughter, Tonita, and grandson Eric, of Bemis Road, attended a farewell party at the Ypsilanti home of Mrs. Mildred Verelli on December 11. The gathering was in honor of Miss Sohinder Kour who is returning to New Delhi, India after attending Eastern Michigan University. The highlight of the evening was seeing Sohinder demonstrate the draping of a sari - always a fascinating work of art - FOLLOWING The annual Kiwanis Christmas party at Belleville High School last Tuesday evening, Ed and Mary Ann Hudge entertained at a cocktail party at their Haggerty Road home. The 14 couples attending included Ed's fellow Kiwanians as well as friends in the area.

LOADED DOWN-Bearing armfuls of prettily-wrapped packages, this B.P.W. trio helped load a car with dozens of gifts for needy children and families in the area. The B.P.W. Club annually prepares clothing and toys for the project and at its traditional Christmas party, wrapped and ribboned the items for distribution. Helping take the array out of Edgemont School were (left to right) Mrs. Clayton Saunders, Mrs. Howard Stinehour, and Mrs. Robert Russell.

Mia-Me Sewing Club Aids B.P.W. Club For 21st Annual Year

"Loving, giving hands make a singing heart." This might well be the motto under which the Mia-Me Sewing Club works. This neighborhood social club has been sewing little pants and dresses for needy children for about 21 years. Always, their goal has been to have their little hand-sewn garments ready for distribution by Christmas.

When this sewing group of devoted women started, they had five members and decided to take the first letter of each of their names and create a name for their circle. Thus Mia-Me. Over the years changes do occur, and this year, they had only three women, Angie Enzenauer, Elsie Kregg and Harriet Doty, who sewed the clothing for Christmas, 1969.

During the past several years, the Belleville Business and Professional Women's Club has been the channel through which the sewing club makes the distribution of the garments sewn.

The Business and Professional Women's Club

services, each year, a list of the needy pre-school age children from the Van Buren Public Schools and St. Anthony's School. From this list, the age, size and sex of each child are supplied to the Mia-Me Club, and this is the motivation for fingers, needles and thread to start work. Time is of an essence, because the Mia-Me Club doesn't know the children's names until the first of November and the clothing must be completed by the first part of December.

In addition to the outer garments which are made by the Mia-Me Club, the B.P.W. purchases from Mannings Store, underpants, shirts, socks and slippers, plus two toys to complete the individual gifts.

These Christmas packages are delivered on December 24th by the custodians of the Van Buren Public Schools.

What a noble deed this silent Sewing Circle performs each Christmas - may it bring a singing heart to each of its members!

AT this time of the year, when the house is filled with the delightful aroma of Christmas bakery; when cakes, nuts, breads, candies, and all sorts of goodies tempt the snacker on every hand, it is a wise idea to stop and consider the significance of the HOLIDAY - "Peace on earth to men of good will." Let us give thanks for all the blessings we encountered during the year and increase our tolerance and understanding of those things foreign to our way of life. Least we not forget to do unto others as we would have them do unto us. Then only will we gain a feeling of well-being, not only today and tomorrow, but the entire year - a feeling so essential for a very MERRY CHRISTMAS.

BPW Holds Holiday Gathering

The finance committee welcomed the B.P.W. Club Monday evening to the Christmas and gift-wrapping meeting. Each B.P.W. member brings a toy to add to the child's gift.

During the evening a lovely dinner was served. Alice Atwell sang a solo and a quartet of club women sang several numbers to instill the Christmas mood.

Q. I have 3 young children. I understand that if my husband should die, the children could get social security benefits. I also work and have social security coverage. If I should die, would the children receive anything?

A. Yes, if you have worked under social security long enough to be insured, your children could receive monthly benefits on your record, just as they could in case of your husband's death.

Bank Seeks Shares

The Board of Directors of the Bank of the Commonwealth have declared a 30 per cent share extra dividend to shareholders of record Dec. 26, 1969, payable on Jan. 2, 1970.

The extra, when combined with the regular $2 annual dividend, brings total dividends to $2.30 per share with respect of 1969 operations.

Total 1969 dividends paid will aggregate $7,005,381, as compared with $4,732,343 in 1968.

The Board of Directors further announced that they will recommend to the shareholders at the Bank's Annual Meeting, April 20, 1970, the adoption of a 3-for-2 split of common shares, and, further, the adoption of a resolution permitting the Bank to offer approximately $25,000,000 of Units containing subordinated debentures with common stock warrants attached. Both of the foregoing capital actions will be subject to approval of the appropriate regulatory authorities.

The Board of Directors also announced that it is its present intention to continue the Bank's regular quarterly dividend of 50 cents per share on the increased number of shares outstanding after the effective date of the stock split, subject, of course, to the Bank's earnings' financial conditions and other factors.

UR Aides To Attend Seminar

ROMULUS--Approval to send two members of Romulus Township Urban Renewal staff to an Urban Renewal Seminar in Chicago has been granted by the Township Board.

George Wilhelmi, Urban Renewal director, reported that the Southern Illinois University is offering two three-week training program for administrators and Inspectors connected with Housing, Renewal and Code Enforcement Programs from Jan. 12 to Jan. 30, and from Feb. 2 to Feb. 19, 1970.

His recommendation that Mary Carter and Leonard Folmar, both Urban Renewal assistants be permitted to attend sessions was accepted and approved.

The Township Board also approved transportation and incidental expenses for the pair.

so, according to Kenneth Grinstead, professor of education at Eastern Michigan University.

Since "neither legislatures nor courts possess the expertise to run our schools," resorting to law in cases involving students should be avoided by following locally accepted guidelines, he says.

Grinstead's study of "Some Legal Aspects of Student Rights" appears in the current issue of Elan, the journal of the College of Education.

POINTING OUT that school officials are being compelled to "take a fresh look at existing regulations and practices for controlling student conduct," the writer examines various tests the courts have applied when called upon to pass on punishment assessed for rules infractions. One of these is the "reasonableness" of the rule.

He cites the case of an EMU coed who was expelled in 1924 because she "smoked cigarettes on the public streets of Ypsilanti (and) rode around the streets of Ypsilanti in an automobile seated on the lap of a young man." The student appealed her expulsion all the way to the Michigan Supreme Court.

The court found that rules against such conduct were "reasonable" and dismissed the appeal. Grinstead remarks that it is doubtful that similar rules would be upheld today.

THERE IS also the "distraction test," having to do with hair styles and personal adornment. In this area, says Grinstead, courts have handed down various rulings based on whether the appearance of the student "distracted" others or disrupted the educational process. He finds the courts making decisions on a case-by-case basis.

He comes to this conclusion:

"If our educational institutions become distressed and in turmoil, legislatures may intervene. Even the courts, unskilled as they are in school administration, may act to insure that there is justice between the students and the school."

"The best guidelines for government student conduct are those developed locally by elected school boards, their administrators and teachers and representatives of parents and students."

Winter Arrives Sunday, Dec. 21

The winter solstice, which makes the winter official, will arrive at 7:44 p.m. Sunday (Dec. 21), reminds University of Michigan astronomer Hazel M. Losh.

The solstice is the point at which the sun is farthest from the equator, north or south. The sun reaches its southernmost point of the year at the winter solstice.

"The sun will rise and set about 30 degrees south of the east-west points of the horizon, and will swing its shortest daily arc across the southern sky," Prof. Losh notes. It will be the shortest day of the year, with about nine hours of daylight.

Actually, the earth is closer to the sun now than it was during the summer, Prof. Losh says. But the seasons depend primarily on the tilt of the earth's axis, and the sun's rays now come to us more obliquely, lessening their strength.

The shorter distance between the sun and the earth tends to make the winter in the northern hemisphere a little milder, however, than the southern hemisphere winter half a year later.

"The date of Christmas," says Prof. Losh, "is believed to bear a real relation to the sun and the date of the winter solstice. It is thought that this Christian celebration was set to agree with the earlier pagan festival, attendant upon the rejoicing in the turning northward of the sun at the winter solstice, and the promise of the return from the cold bleak temperatures to warmer weather."

Alcohol Education Centers Set up by AAA and Police

Automobile Club of Michigan's 57 division offices plus city police and sheriff offices and almost every liquor outlet in the state have been declared Alcohol Education Centers from now through New Year's.

Education Centers — which will have special display posters to help guide drivers through the holidays safely — have been established as part of Auto Club's "First a Friend, Then a Host" save driving campaign for Christmas and New Year's.

Displays, one of the new items in use this year, re one-by-two foot, full-color posters which provide practical tips for persons who will drink and drive. In addition, there is an alcohol chart which shows how many drinks a person can consume before driving ability is affected.

AUTO CLUB also has added alcohol charts to bottle sleeves, which are designed to fit over liquor bottles as a reminder that moderation is the best policy.

Bottle sleeves will be available free to the public at all Auto Club division offices across the state. Alcohol Education Displays can be seen at most police departments and liquor establishments.

This year's "First a Friend, Then a Host" campaign was introduced to the public in Lansing recently in cooperation with the Michigan Liquor Control Commission and the Michigan Licensed Beverage Association.

Alcohol Education Center displays and bottle sleeves are being shown this year for the first time in almost every package liquor and liquor by the glass outlet in Michigan as a safety reminder to the 80 percent of motorists who will drink and then drive.

City police and sheriff offices are helping with state-wide distribution of materials in cooperation with the Michigan Liquor Control Commission.

"Three years ago, Auto Club took a unique approach to holiday motorists who have one or two social drinks and still drive," says Auto Club General Manager Fred places the responsibility for motorists who drink and then drive on those persons who serve the alcohol — namely the holiday host."

IT IS pointed out that during the holidays, private party hosts will serve over 70 percent of the alcohol ALCOHOL EDUCATION CENTER displays have been set up at liquor outlets and Automobile Club of Michigan offices across the state in an effort to encourage the sensible use of liquor by motorists over the holidays. Shown holding materials which are being distributed through Auto Club's "First a Friend, Then a Host" holiday traffic safety program, designed to encourage moderation in the use of alcohol, are (left to right): Stanley Thayer, Michigan Liquor Control Commission chairman, and James Moffat, Auto Club's assistant general manager. Thayer holds a bottle of liquor covered with a bottle sleeve. Moffat shows the new Alcohol Education Center This year, for the first time, the Liquor Control Commission and the Michigan Licensed Beverage Association have agreed to help promote the "First a Friend, Then a Host" campaign which encourages the use of common sense rather than abstinence.

Rehm. "We publicly stated that although drinking and driving can never be condoned, there is little anyone can do to prevent this holiday practice."

WE KNOW that eight of every 10 motorists over the holiday will have a social drink or two and still drive.

Rehm added that past holiday safety programs which state "Drunk Drivers Go to Jail" and "Alcohol Kills" plus other similar admonitions are ignored by the bulk of the public.

The "First a Friend, Then a Host" program is the only positive approach to holiday drinking taken by a safety-oriented organization," adds Rehm. "Our program consumed during that period."

Some of the pointers which Auto Club's full-color poster makes are:

*Pouring double shots is no favor to your guests. Two shots of 100-proof whiskey double chances of an auto accident.

*Before any drinking begins, eat food items such as mashed potatoes or beans since they act like a sponge in the stomach, retaining alcohol.

Auto Club reminds party goers who must drive over the holidays about the practicality of eating food with this humorous headline on its display: "Eat 'Em Mashed ... And You Won't Get Smashed."

Snowmobiling is Replacing Little White Ball on Links

The joys of following that little white ball have led many an intrepid golfer through the worst of rain, wind, hail, sleet-even a blizzard now and then.

But when winter snows finally pile up to stay, heartless groundskeepers declare their courses "no man's land" and shut down til spring. At least, that's how it used to be.

These days, golfing families throughout the snowbelt states, are finding a new winter-way to "drive a long one" down the fairways. On sleek, rugged snowmobiles that slice and hook like no golf ball ever could. And many private and public courses, including country clubs, are quietly encouraging the fun. Some rent machines by the day or engines and driven by an endless, flexible rubber/nylon track. Steering is smoothly managed by a bicycle handlebar and a pair of skis up front.

Comfort and styling haven't been overlooked either. Drivers and passengers straddle handsome, deep-cushioned seats and proudly traverse snow country on richly colored machines with contemporary aerodynamic lines. An example is the new Sno-Jet '70, with a deep blue, white-striped body closely patterned after latest supersonic aircraft.

Though many snowmobiles are capable of high speeds, owners get their top thrills by skillfully maneuvering them over irregular terrain. Golf courses, fundamental's of snowmobile driving, timing, turning-and give them a chance to compete against other teams. "Crack squads" can also be formed for members who go for speedier, more complex teamwork.

Naturally, a golf course's turf is valuable. So snowmobiling doesn't begin until a minimum of 12 to 16 inches of snow has accumulated. Greens are strictly "off limits". But snowmobile fans gladly cooperate. They've found a healthful, joyous replacement for their former winter hibernation-and aren't about to risk giving it up-by making a single divot.

Watercraft Sales Center, Inc., Rockford, Michigan, successfully introduced the blue machines in Michigan three years ago.

FORE! FOURSOMES FIND FAIRWAYS FUN on snow-covered golf courses. Snowmobile Drill Teams, like this "crack squad" on their Sno-Jets, provide an exciting new group activity for Country Club members and friends during winter months. Teams sharpen driving skills, perform spectacular exhibitions and participate in high-spirited competition.

hour, usually on a "Members only" basis.

ESPECIALLY HAPPY about snowmobiling on-the-links are summer's perennial "golf widows and orphans". Now, rather than being stranded at home or in the clubhouse, mom and the kids can join dad and take lively parts in a sport everyone seems to enjoy from the first ride on.

Except for custom-equipment "specials" designed for racing and other performance events, modern snowmobiles are easy to operate and handle. They are powered by two-cycle, air-cooled gasoline with carefully contoured hills, dips, slopes and rises, are ideal for this kind of action.

Snowmobiling adds another dimension of value for snowbound country clubs-group activity. This is furthered by forming "Snowmobile Drill Teams", an increasingly popular facet of the winter sport.

Based on the precision marching of college bands, these groups of from 8 to 80 members practice intricate formations on fields of no more than five acres.

BESIDES CREATING more fun, Drill Teams help members learn the

Many of them wanted to shake the hands of the ladies. So many said "Thank you" and said how much they appreciated the visit, and to come back again, real soon.

One of them even had some patients sign a Christmas card which they gave to Mrs. Caswell.

There really is a need for more people to get involved in volunteer work of this kind, said Mrs. Caswell.

United Foundation Concerned Over Senate Tax Bill

Officials of Detroit's United Foundation, the world's largest united fund, have joined hundreds of others across the country in voicing "considerable concern" regarding the federal tax legislations pending in Congress.

In a statement released today, they charge that House Bill 13270, now before the Senate, could reverse long-standing government policy of encouraging voluntary philanthropy to help meet the nation's health and welfare needs.

Copies of the statement have been mailed to Michigan Senators Hart and Griffin as well as House representatives.

THE STATEMENT was accompanied by a letter from UF Executive Vice President Jacques Cousin expressing "a definite belief that much of this legislation will blunt voluntary efforts to resolve today's social ills."

Cousin's letter called attention to the vital role philanthropy has played in American life and noted that the UF in 21 years of existence has brought in nearly $400 million for health and social services.

Detroit's Torch Drive, which raised $30.6 million in its 23-day campaign this fall and annually exceeds all other funds in the country, is only a small portion of the total, Cousin said.

"MORE THAN $800

million will be raised in this country by united funds this year," he stated.

"Surely these figures prove the viability of voluntary service organizations, those which collect as well as those which spend," his letter continued.

Cousin credited the Torch Drive's continuing success to the fact "all differences are forgotten" during the annual campaign.

"Everybody - union member, manager, black, white, Christian, Jew, young, old - unites behind the drive. That is why its benefits transcend the considerable services its funds provide."

THE UF CHIEF executive stressed that his organization is not against tax "reform nor is opposing safeguards which would guarantee that all foundation operation in the public interest.

"But this legislation appears designed to thwart any bold, new or innovative programs by imposing penalties on foundation and their officers if funds are spent in ways which do not meet the requirements of the legislation," Cousin declared.

"And it comes at a time when this nation needs the enthusiastic cooperation and participation of all its citizenry in a dedicated effort to improve life in America and when there is great need for pluralism in our approach to difficult problems," he added.

The UF statement attacked the complexity of the proposed legislation and declared: "A donor will have a hard time determining what and when to give to charity."

We've built up a storehouse of warm wishes for a Merry Christmas, and we'd like to offer them to you and your family at this time. And it is with much appreciation that we thank you for the real pleasure of serving you.

Snacking Desirable

If yours is an average family, your children are probably saying "What can I have to eat?" five minutes after the family has finished eating.

Mrs. Kathleen Bufton, extension home economist for Wayne and Oakland counties, says that since snacking seems to be a way of life for most Americans, children naturally adopt this habit.

"Quite literally," she adds, "children's stomachs may not have sufficient capacity to hold one-third of their daily food needs when consumed at one meal."

"Consider snacks as part of the total daily food intake," Mrs. Bufton says. "If your preschooler eats many snacks a day, expect that the amount he eats at mealtime will be less."

IT'S UP to you, however, to see that his snacks are as balanced nutritionally as his meals. A child who snacks all day on one item such as crackers, is less likely to be well nourished than a child whose daily food intake includes all the basic foods.

Kathleen Bufton suggests keeping handy fresh fruit sections such as apple wedges or orange segments, milk, carrot sticks, peanut butter, cheese and ready-to-eat cereal with or without milk.

If you'd rather that your children didn't snack so often, try to make meals interesting, the specialist suggests. Pleasant meals are more conducive to eating, and the child is apt to eat enough to last for three or four hours.

DISCOURAGE SNACKING within an hour of meal time. When working with a preschool child, diversion is the key. Get him busy with something he enjoys about an hour before meals, or persuade father to amuse him for awhile.

PRESENTS DELIVERED—Clyde Stapleton, Principal of Rawsonville School, delivers presents for the boys and girls of the Yorkwood Center, a division for children of the Ypsilanti State Hospital. The gifts were donated by the children of the Rawsonville Elementary School. Mrs. Jackie Rosseels, Community Relations Coordinator, is receiving the gifts.

School Aid Bill Sets Amount

Senator N. Lorraine Beebe (R-12th District) has introduced a bill making it mandatory for public schools to receive a minimum of $200 per child.

The reason for the bill's inception comes as a result of the reluctance of the Attorney General to make a definite legal statement on whether or not a school district can be excluded from receiving any funds under the membership formula of the state school aid act, because of its financial status and the fulfillment of its statutory obligation.

The bill would enable school districts with highly substantiated programs to maintain their excellence in the field of education.

At the same time, school systems that lack additional funds to promote such programs would receive a sufficient amount to raise their own educational standards.

HARE REPORTS

Sound Tires A Winter Must

"Always drive on sound
tires with good treads,"
Secretary of State James M.
Hare urged Michigan
motorists this week.

"That's a life-saving idea at any time of year," Hare said.
"It's especially appropriate at this time of year — before winter sets in with a vengeance."

Hare reported that drastically impaired traction is a major winter problem in Michigan. Tires and traction aids are one answer.

He outlined facts
developed in research conducted by the National Safety Council:

"If you equip your car
with conventional snow tires, you can gain as much as 13 percent better stopping on loosely packed snow than with regular highway tires."

However, snow tires show little or no improvement in stopping on ice.

"WHERE ICE is a major problem, studded tires give three times the starting ability and 19 percent more stopping ability than regular tires.

"To contend with severe conditions — packed snow or ice — reinforced tire chains top them all. For getting started, chains offer seven times the pulling power of regular tires on glare ice.
They'll stop 50 percent better.

"On loosely packed snow, reinforced tire chains reduce braking distance by 37 percent as compared with regular highway tires."

FOR CORNERING on ice or snow however, traction aids offer little advantage unless used on all four wheels to maintain steering control
as well as traction.

Hare also pointed out that in no instance can a driver stop or go nearly as well, regardless of traction aids on snow or ice, as with regular highway tires on dry pavement.

What to do When Kids are Destructive

Parents should seek professional help for the child who destroys for the sake of destroying or enjoys disrupting the play of other children, says Mrs. Kathleen

Buften, extension home economist for Wayne and Oakland counties.
"Something has gone wrong in this child's growing-up,"
she says, "and unless handled with skill and deep understanding, his attitude can settle into a persistent defiance and destructiveness."

"In the case of gang misdeeds commonly committed by 10-15
year-olds, the reasons for this behavior are not hard to find.
The child doesn't want to be considered a sissy. He wants to be accepted by the others

so he joins them in activities he would never dream of doing on his own."

MRS. BUFTON suggests that lessons in property value,
the rights of other people,
and sharing the cost of damages (out of his allowance) will help cut down on this kind of destructiveness.

"When there is an undue amount of this trouble in a neighborhood, parents would do well to examine the situation regarding their children's spare time," she adds.

"Talking it over with a recreation leader, scoutmaster or church leader helps.
Destructive gangs can become constructive groups with proper guidance.

M. G. Moody Returns to Homeport

ROMULUS—Builder Third Class Michael G. Moody, USN, of 20494 Middlebelt, has returned from Vietnam with U.S. Naval Mobile Construction Battalion 58 (MCB 58) to its homeport at Davisville, R.I.

This tour was the third to Vietnam for the MCB-58 Seabees since the unit's recommissioning in 1966.

Highlights of the deployment include:

The reconstruction of the Song Tra Bong Bridge, an 800-foot reinforced concrete structure; a record breaking 254,000 tons of rock crushed for use in road construction in the five northernmost provinces of South Vietnam; reconstruction of twelve arches, covered with a foot of concrete, at the Chu Lai Air Base to protect the troops there from enemy rockets and mortars.

Rotary Christmas Party

OUT OF SANTA'S CHRISTMAS BAG ... The annual Christmas Party of Belleville Rotary was held Dec. 16, with Santa Claus paying his annual visit. He is busy above presenting some of his gifts to the many children that attended the party. With the youngsters in Santa's lineup are (left to right) Frank Day, Howard Kirk and Harlan Ringelberg assisting Santa from the stage.

HAPPY SPECTATORS—These youngsters were part of many happy children who were honored guests at this year's Christmas Party sponsored by Belleville Rotary Club. The interesting and smiling expressions were caught by Photographer Dr. Richard Muse and during the performance of "Ricky the Clown," a featured act at the party.

Tree Tips

All the known sprays, dips and special treatments still are no match for fresh Christmas trees standing in water.

Extensive testing indicates a fresh cut tree standing in water is as effective a fireproofing practice as the best spray-on materials known.

Christmas trees will maintain this fireproof characteristic if you promptly cut one inch off the stump and stand the tree in water.

The water treatment will work faster if you soak the tree with a garden hose and keep the tree outside for a few days.

The fragrance, freshness, beauty and fireproof characteristic can last up to three weeks if the water supply is maintained while the tree is indoors.

But some are too dry to absorb water. When you shop for a tree look for freshness. Be cautious of trees that are crisp or are dropping needles.

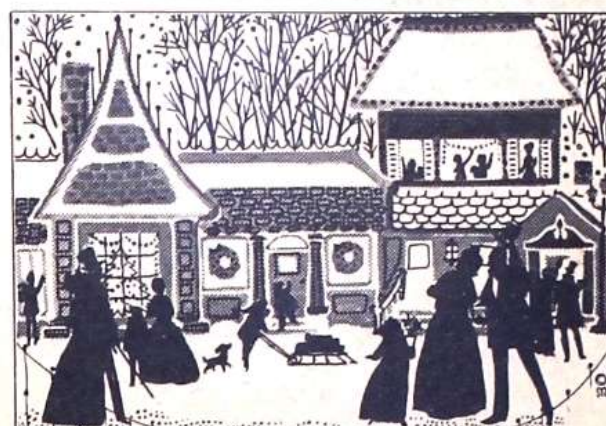

If you notice your tree isn't absorbing water, then you aren't renewing the fireproof effect.

More Men Students At EMU

Closes 3 Stores

Goodwill Industries stores in Pontiac and at 5200 East McNichols closed their doors on Saturday, Dec. 13, and the store at 5008 West Warren will cease operations at the end of the business day on Dec. 31.

In making the announcement, Goodwill executive director Dr. John E. Hoskins, said that the closing of these stores is part of the cutbacks forced upon Goodwill by financial losses.

Affected employees are being offered transfers or are being helped to find new jobs through the Goodwill placement office.

Federal highway construction costs have increased 26 per cent in the past 10 years, according to Oil Facts. The publication notes, however, that the price of asphalt - derived from petroleum and used to pave 93 per cent of the nation's roads and highways - has increased only 1.5 per cent in the same period.

Warning Against Hazardous Toys Issued by Eye Society

Will the gaily wrapped packages under your Christmas tree hold pleasure or peril for your children?

The National Society for the Prevention of Blindness predicts that from Christmas 1969 to Christmas 1970 approximately 19,000 children will have been killed by accidents caused by toys and 40,000 to 50,000 permanently crippled.

In all, during 1970, two million youngsters will require medical treatment because of such accidents. Of these, thousands will incur eye injuries or even blindness needlessly because of a defective or inappropriate toy, or one handled without caution or supervision.

AMONG THE worst offenders hiding under the Christmas tree are bows and arrows, missile-type toys with explosive caps, pellet, pop and blow guns, sling shots, darts and bean shooters.

Dr. Wilfred D. David executive director of the Society, cautions parents to "make sure that one of your child's eyes or that of a playmate doesn't become the 'bull's eye' of an archery game."

When the rubber suction tip on the arrow's point is removed or falls off," he says, "play arrows can become as deadly as those of frontier days."

A POTENTIAL Nobel prize winner in chemistry may never achieve fame if his toy chemistry set blows up in his face because he is too young to handle it prudently according to instructions. Authorities recommend that he should be at least 11 years old before he receives his first set. He should be instructed to lock it up out of the reach of younger brothers and sisters.

INVOLVE BOTH PARTIES

Petitpren Named for House On Education Reform Talks

State Representative Vincent J. Petitpren (D-Westland) has been named to represent the 57-member House of Representatives Democratic Caucus in top-level talks on the Governor's educational reform program for Michigan.

The talks will involve leaders of both parties in the House and Senate, the Governor and his key aides.

Petitpren is chairman of the House College and Universities Committee and vice chairman of the House Taxation Committee.

THE CONFERENCE has been reduced to a subcommittee status for studies of specific areas of educational reform. Petitpren has been assigned to two of the subcommittees, one involves school financing.

"Financing almost inevitably means taxes for someone," Petitpren said. "Any studies in this area must keep in mind not only the needs of education, but also the ability of already overburdened taxpayers to absorb any additional taxes. We will have to look carefully at possible alternatives and present methods of financing our schools."

"The recommendations involve school aid, tax measures, administration and quality of education. If we are to produce meaningful educational reform in the fall session and in the 1970 session that starts in January, there must be some consensus between the House, Senate and Governor's office. Without it, any serious approach to educational reform is in doubt."

"The talks we are starting are vitally important because they involve legislation which

AT JOHN GLENN AND ROUGE HIGH

'Time Out' For Christmas Tournaments

Though most high school basketball teams have called "time out" to enjoy the Christmas holidays, ANP area teams are involved in Holiday tournaments.

At John Glenn, the Rockets hosts aggregations from Belleville, Wayne Memorial, Cherry Hill, Plymouth, Livonia Churchill in a tournament which was to get under way Tuesday.

Finals are scheduled for Sat., Dec. 27 at John Glenn High.

Robichaud and Garden City East head for Rouge to compete in the 11th annual Christmas Tournament. Other teams to participate at Rouge are Highland Park, Edsel Ford, Thurston and Ecorse.

In the first round of competition at John Glenn, Churchill and the host, Glenn, were to meet while Wayne was to take on Belleville Tuesday night.

The winners of the Churchill-Glenn tilt advance to play Cherry Hill at 7:40 p.m. on Dec. 26 (Friday) while the victor of the Wayne-Belleville match class with Plymouth on the same night at 9:20 p.m.

The final and championship game is scheduled for Dec. 27 at 9:20 p.m. There will be a consolation game at 7:30 p.m. Saturday.

Over at Rouge, Highland Park and Robichaud will battle it out in the first round at 5 p.m. while Edsel Ford and Garden City East meet at 6:30 p.m. Thurston takes on Monroe (8 p.m.) and the host, Rouge, plays Ecorse, in a 9:30 p.m. game.

All four games are slated for Dec. 26, Friday, with winners advancing to the semi-finals on Sat., Dec. 27.

Games start at 8 p.m. the second night.

The finals at Rouge are scheduled for Mon., Dec. 29 at 8 p.m.

JOHNICAN SPARKLES

Romulus Stuns Cosmos

By JIM BRADLEY
Sports Writer

Romulus made like Santa Claus and presented coach Al Duva with an easy 86-63 win Friday night when they "toyed" with Hamtramck in a non-league mismatch.

Sparkling the victory was stellar guard Charles Johnnican who pumped in 20 points and electrified the crowd with his pin-point passing. The senior flash, who looks like a cinch to make all-area honors, and maybe even higher, brought oohs and aahs from the packed Romulus gym with his acrobatic antics.

The entire Romulus team still hurt over its last-second loss to Willow Run a week ago, made short work of the Cosmos. They pranced to a ridiculous 28-10 first period edge and continued the barrage in the second stanza to settle for a whopping 49-20 halftime lead.

Coach Duva flooded the floor with reserves throughout the second half, or the Eagles would have flown over the 100-point mark in the game. At one point in the second period Romulus held at 30-point margin as they tied their visitors in knots.

"I'm proud of all the boys putting the ball through the hoop," Duva said after the game, "but it's our defense that makes me proudest. We held them to 10 points in each of the first two periods and that's really playing ball."

Center Roy Szyndlar, gaining confidence with every game, pumped 13 points through the hoop in the first half and was aided by Johnnican's even dozen to build the 49-20 lead. Big Roy finished with 16 before leaving early in the final stanza. He also pulled down 12 rebounds, just behind forward Frank Nesbit's

COOL DRIBBLER—Romulus' Charles Johnnican (20) looks for the path to Hamtramck's basket in Friday night's Twin Valley League contest. Johnnican and the Eagles coasted by the Cosmos 86-63 to bounce back from a heartbreak setback the previous week to Willow Run.

Tigers Continue Tailspin

By JIM BRADLEY
Sports Writer

Belleville ran into a tight 2-3 zone defense from Bentley Friday night and lost its second consecutive league game and fourth in a row overall.

The Bulldogs, using the defensive alignment for the first time, trailed the Tigers for almost the entire game before pulling out a satisfying 49-45 win which put them on top of the Suburban Six League with a 2-1 record. All other league teams have tasted defeat at least once.

"I think our 2-3 zone defense surprised Belleville," Bentley coach Ken Timmons said after the game. "It's the first time we've used the setup this year and I credit it with gaining us our second league win and first place in the standings."

Belleville had only one player in double figures in the scoring column, while Bentley balanced its attack with three in that category. The Tigers took a slim 9-7 first quarter lead as the scoreboard keeper about dozed off because of inaction.

Bentley eased into a 20-20 deadlock at halftime, but persistent Belleville kept pecking away and were up 35-33 at the three-quarter mark. Bentley's 16-10 final scoring burst proved to be the difference.

Probably the key play of the game came when Dave Rice was fouled and sank a pair of free throws to give the Bulldogs a 47-43 edge with 20 seconds left. Garrade Pettus, who hit 11 points in the contest, popped one from the corner to narrow the gap to one bucket, but a long pass and Tom Guilfoyle's dunk provided the final margin.

Bob Lytle sank 8 points and Rick Muschl added 7 for Belleville. Bentley was paced by Guilfoyle, its agile 6-foot-4 forward, who pumped in 15. Teammates Lou Lovett and Dave Rice added 14 and 11, respectively.

The host squad sank 7 of 16 from the free line and Bentley canned 9 of 16.

Belleville, who looked forward to a successful season with its veteran pair of guards Pettus and Dick Wenzel, now turns to the Holiday tournament at Westland John Glenn High School against Wayne Tuesday night, Dec. 23.

The Zebras beat the Tigers in an earlier match and Belleville will be looking for its first win in five starts when the foes clash.

OUTSLUGGED

Huron Turns Cage Thought to Tourney

With league competition behind them for a couple of weeks, Huron head cage coach Dave Court and the Chiefs turned their thoughts to the annual Holiday Tournament which they'll again host.

Seven teams are due in New Boston to compete in the second annual championship which was won by the host last year. Among those who'll challenge the Chiefs are Carlson, Roeper, Lutheran West, Annapolis,

New Haven, Ypsi Lincoln, and Toledo

The games were to get under way last night.

In the first round Carlson was paired with Roeper while Lutheran West clashed with Annapolis Tuesday night New Haven and Ypsi take to the floor at 7 p.m., while Huron and Toledo meet in a 9 p.m. game.

Semi-final games are scheduled to begin at 3 p.m. on Friday, while the championship match is slated for 9 p.m. Saturday.

Huron lost a disappointing duel with unbeaten league leader, Falt Rock, 73-52, before a standing room only crowd. The setback, Coach Court's second in the league, evened up the Chiefs' record to 2-2.

Cold from the floor as well as the free throw line (the Chiefs capitalized on 10 of 25 at the foul line and missed eight in a row at one span), Huron couldn't get their "big guns" working.

Rick Wasilewski, one of the leading scorers in the area, was forced to settle for 13 points.

Wolverine Goes To Mile Track

Wolverine Harness Raceway, which has operated on a half-mile track at the Detroit Race Course since 1950, will present harness racing over a mile track beginning next Fall with the 1970 season.

That is the announcement by Vice President and General Manager Richard S. Wilson after more than six months of study during which the Detroit Racing Association, owners of the huge plant at the intersection of Middlebelt and Schoolcraft Roads in Livonia, installed an ultra-modern lighting system around the mile racing strip.

A poll was conducted during the Wolverine meeting last Spring, asking patrons whether they preferred a half-mile track or a mile strip.

The voting showed 61 percent favored the mile with the remaining 39 percent about equally divided between a half-mile and the 5/8 mile.

Meantime, Wilson has received petitions from owners and drivers favoring the change to the mile, contending that it would result in better racing, faster times and better performances of horses which would have only two curves to circle instead of the four in a half-mile strip.

IN THE RUNNING

Three Tigers -- Denny McLain, Bill Freehan and Jim Northrup -- received votes in balloting for the American League's Most Valuable Player of 1969.

THE SPORTS MERIDIAN

By Tom Mooradian

The Voice of the Fans

There was a cold wind that blew out from Belleville into Wayne last week after the Sports Meridian's column of the ordeals and trials of Allen Gates, the head tiger basketball coach.

And thanks to our longjohns we survived the icy condemnation of the article and the author whom many thought was going beyond his bounds to criticize the personable Tiger sophomore coach.

Read carefully, dear reader, it is not the Sports Meridian who condemns. He backs Gates and wishes him all the winners in the world.

But, he also says that a coach as anyone else in front of the public should be prepared for criticism.

And we must thank those fans - who are our watchdogs - to keep us on our toes.

We don't cater to the fan - but we sure will listen to what he or she has to say. A fan is in a class all to himself when it comes to sports: he makes or breaks a coach; a team, and the "establishment."

Qualify, dear Sports Meridian, qualify before that wind turns into a tornado and sweeps your seats into oblivion.

Fans and "The Establishment"

Have you ever heard of playing a regular game without fans? I have. You remember the Southwestern-Highland Park District basketball playoffs played behind closed doors because the prior game ended in tragedy with some seven persons knifed after a game?

It wasn't much of a game, according to the coaches and the officials: it was DEAD!

Fans provide the spark, the audience for our athletes -- and I haven't come across an athlete who didn't like the applause or wasn't concerned by the boss. (Ask "Willie" Horton what those boos did to him last season.)

Coaches and fans?

How many coaches put in for unemployment compensation after a chorus of fans struck up "Bye, Bye Birdie?" You and I can list quite a few, can't we?

Once a fan or a group of fans get on a coach's back - they're worse than a monkey.

The "establishment" and the fans?

Remember the "Brooklyn Dodgers"; the New York Giants; the Boston Braves; the Philadelphia Athletics; They were clubs who were erased off the maps because the fans refused to give them ample support.

Oh, yes, dear reader, the fan has his place in sports, they pay the price to have their say. And, the "establishment" is well aware of it.

And, the Sports Meridian, is also aware of their importance. He'll never belittle their darts and dashes.

But, there are fans and there are fans!

There are fans who are knowledgeable and know a lot of; what is happening on the court, the field or what have you; and there are fans who THINK they know what is happening. To the former we listen and write about - the latter, we just listen.

And we will always be willing to listen to what they have to say about anyone.

But, we would wish that those who feel that the Sports Meridian was "out to get" Gates in last week's column, to read it again. No such thing, my friend!

We have to agree with Belleville Athletic Director Harry Hidenfelter, who says:

"Gates is doing a fine job for us. He has some inexperienced boys and it's going to take some time, but we'll be all right.

"And we're behind him 100 per cent," said Hidenfelter. And so are we.

TARGET AHEAD—Setting his sights on the basket is Romulus' Don Halimon (10) who helped the Eagles get by an always tough cage customer, Hamtramck Friday night.

SOMETHING NEW ON MATS

Romulus Grapplers Fall

Trying a "new method" in conducting high school wrestling matches, Coach Jim Stallings and Romulus found themselves losing the experiment to Wayne Memorial 33-19 last week.

Instead of wrestling the 107 weight class after the 98 pound class, the usual procedure, the heavyweight stepped on to the mats after the initial 98-pound bout.

Don Haney reciprocated by forfeiting the heavyweight class to Romulus' Tim Sypula.

From then on it was a nip-and-tuck affair until the 123-pound class.

Wayne's Dan Covert worked 3:24 and floored 107-pounder Dennis Decmier and the Eagles' 185 pound class representative, Russell Reaume, avenged the loss with a 5:08 pin of Tom Nelson.

With the score tied up at 10-all, Gregory Stephens pulled Romulus ahead when he decided Jim Tinsley, 5-2, in the 115-pound bout.

Dan Brown padded the Romulus lead when he emerged from the mats with a 5-0 victory over Vince Wilhelm in the 175.

Wayne countered with victories in the 123 where Ron Stafford trimmed Ken Kelley, 7-0; Gary Root pinned 165-pounder Marvin Williams and Jim Bonsall disposed of Dave Jones in the 130-pound class in 3:05.

John Arrington helped the Eagles back on the road to victory when he emerged on top of a 10-2 decision with 155-pound class matman Randy Claborn but Pete Londeau was too much for Mike Cross who fell in 4:25 to the Wayne 137-pounder.

In the last match, veteran grappler Bob Mercado floored Bill Cox in 1:43 of the 145 pound class.

Aside from competing in the Henry Ford Invitational this week, Romulus also will participate in the annual Ann Arbor Novice Tournament.

MAN IN MOTION—Nate Davis, one of Romulus' leading scorers, turned his skills to playmaking Friday night as the Eagles tripped up Hamtramck to even up their Twin Valley Conference record at 1-1.

Wildlife Experimentation Recalled

By LEE SMITS
Special Writer

Man, within the span of three centuries, has so changed the land, waters and air of Michigan that our state bears little resemblance to the wilderness that French explorers found when they penetrated the interior from Detroit, Mackinaw, St. Ignace and the Soo.

In the present century, outdoor values have provided Michigan with its No. 2 industry — recreation, tourism, outdoor enjoyment.

The wounds inflicted by axe and plow, bulldozer, dredge and fire have healed. Our state motto is justified — "If you seek a beautiful peninsula, look about you."

Man continues to effect dramatic changes that alter the life patterns of animals, from deer to woodpeckers.

SOME SPECTACULAR changes in Michigan's fish and wildlife populations have been intentional. An outstanding example is the introduction of the coho. Our most important game bird, the pheasant, was introduced within the memory of hunters who are still hale and hearty. Another exotic that established itself happily for all concerned was the rainbow trout.

Reviewing other attempts to bring in foreign species we find that hopes and plans have not always succeeded. A herd of reindeer was released in the midsection of the Upper Peninsula, with tragic results. A deficiency in the available forage caused deformity and sickness that doomed the project.

Another introduced species that flourished, but did not become popular, was the carp. At one time a profitable carp fishery was in operation in Michigan. The carp, shipped alive in tank cars, sold well on the New York market.

Going further back in the history of wildlife experimentation, we find that a large number of elvers were released in Michigan waters.

Nesbit was used to bring the ball up court but still managed 15 markers and Davis added 12. Guard Don Halimon snapped off 10 rebounds, five on each board, and added nine points. Hamtramck's Cuelie Thompson paced the Cosmos with 19 and teammate Arthur Williams had 18.

The win runs the Eagles' record to 3-1 and now the "highfliers" rest until January 9 when they will be severely tested at home by a highly-regarded Ecorse team in their second league encounter.

Sports Conditions Improve at Area Parks

Winter sports enthusiasts will find that several facilities are in operation at Stony Creek Metropolitan Park near Utica and Kensington Metropolitan Park near Milford, while a more lengthy period of lower temperatures are needed to get sports facilities open at Metropolitan Beach near Mt. Clemens and Lower Huron Metropolitan Park near Belleville.

Stony Creek Metropolitan Park near Utica reported ice is 4 to 5 inches thick on Stony Creek Lake, with open water in the middle of lake and no shanties at present. Pike, bluegills and crappies inhabit the lake.

There are three rinks at the Winter Cove Picnic Site on the lake, with one for general skating plus two hockey rinks. A warming shelter is at the site. Skating hours are 9 a.m. to dusk.

There is some snowcover in the park, with the hills at the Oakgrove Picnic site good for sledding. Toboggans may be used, but there are no developed Toboggan Runs in the park.

The Nature Center and nature trails are open daily, except Mondays (and Christmas and New Year's Day). Hours are 9 a.m. to dusk. The Nature Center is closed mornings during the week, when it is used by school groups.

Park hours are 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. For additional information call the park: Phone 781-4242. (Washington)

Kensington Metropolitan Park near Milford has ice 6 to 8 inches thick on Kent Lake in the 4,300-acre park. There are only a few shanties on the lake. Bluegills and crappies are the primary catches.

The ice rinks are located in front of the Boat Rental Building, with one for general skating and two hockey rinks. The ice is in fair condition and could improve with colder temperatures. Limited food service is available, hours vary. Skating hours are 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. daily, depending upon weather conditions.

The park's four toboggan runs are closed at present, with three developed runs for advanced tobogganists and a smaller run for children. Light snow cover will probably provide adequate sledding conditions. These facilities are located at the Winter Sports Area and there is a warming shelter.

The Nature Center and nature trails are open daily, except Christmas and New Year's Day. Trail hours are 9 a.m. to dusk. During the week the building is closed mornings for school group use.

Park hours are daylight to 11 p.m. For additional information call the park: Phone 685-1561 (Milford)

Park personnel suggest all persons use care on all lakes in southeastern Michigan since winter conditions vary from day to day.

Metropolitan Beach near Mt. Clemens, Hudson Mills Metropolitan Park and Delhi and Dexter-Huron Parks, each northwest of Ann Arbor; and Lower Huron Metropolitan Park near Belleville are also open "year-around".

For information on winter facilities at these parks persons may contact: Metropolitan Beach HO 3-4581 (Mt. Clemens) or WO 3-3022 (Detroit Line); Lower Huron Metropolitan Park phone 697-9181; and for Delhi, Dexter-Huron and Hudson Mills Parks call 426-8211.

Persons, who have not yet received a Metropark Guide, may request one by writing to Metropark Guide, % Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority, 1750 Guardian Building, Detroit, MI 48226 or calling 961-5865 (DETROIT). The Metropark Guide for 1969-70 was introduced in August of this year.

Discrimination Charged In Apartment Rental

ROMULUS—A Wayne apartment owner and his wife, who refused to permit an interracial couple to occupy an apartment after they had paid a security deposit and two weeks rent in advance, were charged with unlawful racial discrimination today by the Michigan Civil Rights Commission. A public hearing will be scheduled to hear testimony on the charge in the near future.

The Commission, through the State Attorney General's office, obtained an injunction in Wayne County Circuit Court, preventing the owners from renting the apartment for 30 days during which time the Commission will hold a hearing and make a determination.

Named in the charge are Wallace W. Williams and his wife, Marie C. Williams, owners of apartment units at 6679 Merriman Road in Romulus Township.

The charge states that on November 21 Miss Marlys Stein, who is white, paid a security deposit and two weeks advance rent totaling $170 to rent an apartment at the Merriman Road address for herself and her fiancé, Alonzo Montgomery. The couple both lived in Detroit, and were to be married December 6. At the time, the Williams' did not know that Montgomery was black.

When Williams discovered Montgomery's race, he informed the couple that he could not permit them to occupy the apartment, according to the charge. The next day, the Williams' changed the lock on the apartment so that the couple could not occupy the unit, the charge states.

The Commission charged that the action of the Williams' is a violation of Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery's civil rights, specifically their right to engage in a real estate transaction regardless of race or color as provided under the Michigan Fair Housing Act.

The charge asks that the Williams' be required to reimburse the claimants for the expenses which they had to pay as a result of the discrimination.

At the public hearing, a hearing referee will listen to testimony on the charge and later issue his findings and recommendations to the Commission.

Cabaret Comedies Offered by Players

WESTLAND—Wayne Civic Players are presenting Cabaret Theatre for the first time in their ten-year history. They are offering an informal evening, running approximately two hours, consisting of several one-act comedies.

Refreshments will be served Cabaret style and a delightful evening is promised.

Ted, Alice, Etc. Make Quite a Couple!

By HOWARD ALLEN
Amusement Critic

The comment has been heard that off-Broadway is getting closer and closer to Broadway and certainly the price gap is narrowing these days, which probably is why there's not talking about a new "off-off-Broadway." But, if what's in and what isn't keeps changing, along with the price lists, there's a spirit about off-Broadway which remains constant.

The Vest Pocket, for example, isn't off-Broadway.

It does perform shows you can't see on the Rialto, but it's too neat, too formal, too big. Off Broadway is something you have to climb up or climb down, sit in front of, sit around. Off-Broadway doesn't have to be starvation theater, but it shouldn't look too prosperous either.

For the last couple of years, the closest things to off-Broadway in Detroit have been the Concept-East and the Detroit Repertory Theatre, sporadic efforts at best. Now comes the Group, on Livernois south of McNichols.

The Group would probably deny it's off-Broadway. Certainly, a season of past and present Broadway hits like "A Thousand Clowns" and "Long Day's Journey into Night" isn't off-Broadway, and neither is its company of mostly community theater actors.

But this is superfluous, as one look at the building will tell you. The Group is housed in a converted restaurant, a small theater-in-the-round the likes of which hasn't been seen outside of an experimental university company since the ancient days of the world stage. Like all off-Broadway houses, it has an air of genteel poverty about it which says, "The heck with money. We're interested in theater."

The productions can be spotty as might be expected in a company which guarantees all members a part per season accepts anyone as a member. But there is an air of expectancy there. One of these days, something exciting might happen.

If you wonder what will be become of the modern generation a decade hence, take a look at "Bob and Carol and Ted and Alice," a look at the alienated generation after it's made it, yet a generation which can pass the pot around as casually as you offer drinks.

"Bob and friends" starts off with a confrontation, the latest in "in" psychological experiments which gives you a whole new concept of life, it says here. Bob and Carol emerge scathed; they now wish to tell all, including sexual infidelities. But after a confrontation, one's mate doesn't bother forgiving — we're beyond that now — or even accepting infidelities. One appreciates.

Ted and Alice get hung up on their friends lack of hang-ups and the happy ending — I think that's what it is, the picture doesn't actually tell you whether it's a happy ending or not (in fact, the main way you know that the picture's over is that the sign comes on reading "intermission") — is deferred until the two couples all go to bed together with each other's mates. This seems to smooth things out.

There are some genuinely funny sequences in the picture, notably one in which Elliott Gould tries to talk his wife, Dyan Cannon, into it when she isn't in the mood. Gould thoroughly steals things from stars Robert Culp and Natalie Wood, the couple who had the confrontation. Photography, editing, script, all are nouveau-mod. When go you, forget the popcorn and pass the pot.

American-International got carried away in its long romance with Edgar Allan Poe, allowing three top European directors to play around with three Poe tales. In the resulting trilogy, "Spirits of the Dead," Poe lost. Louis Malle comes closest with "William Wilson," with Alain Delon as a young sadist continuously thwarted by a mysterious alter-ego who interrupts him at inconvenient moments, like when he's about to carve up a young lady or whip Brigitte Bardot. He destroys his opponent at last, only to find he's destroyed himself.

Least successful is Fellini, offering a pretentious caricature of his earlier work in a vignette which you know comes from Poe only because the credits tell you so. Terrence Stamp is a tortured movie star; the audience is tortured too.

Roger Vadim, the third director, casts wife Jane Fonda as a brutal and hedonistic noblewoman who destroys her cousin, Peter Fonda, for spurning her, only to find her soul is captured by a reincarnated steed. Vadim leans heavily on the sensual; the best Poe is leaner meet.

Metro Parks Keep Warm With Winter Business

Winter sports enthusiasts will find that several facilities are in operation at Stony Creek Metropolitan Park near Utica and Kensington Metropolitan Park near Milford, while a more lengthy period of lower temperatures are needed to get sports facilities open at Metropolitan Beach near Mt. Clemens and Lower Huron Metropolitan Park near Belleville.

Stony Creek Metropolitan Park near Utica reported ice is 4 to 5 inches thick on Stony Creek Lake, with open water in the middle of lake and no shanties at present. Pike, bluegills and crappies inhabit the lake.

There are three rinks at the Winter Cove Picnic Site on the lake, with one for general skating plus two hockey rinks. A warming shelter is at the site. Skating hours are 9 a.m. to dusk.

There is some snowcover in the park, with the hills at the Oakgrove Picnic site good for sledding. Toboggans may be used, but there are no developed Toboggan Runs in the park.

The Nature Center and nature trails are open daily, except Mondays (and Christmas and New Year's Day). Hours are 9 a.m. to dusk. The Nature Center is closed mornings during the week, when it is used by school groups.

Park hours are 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. For additional information call the park: Phone 781-4242 (Washington)

Kensington Metropolitan Park near Milford has ice 6 to 8 inches thick on Kent Lake in the 4,300-acre park. There are only a few shanties on the lake. Bluegills and crappies are the primary catches.

The ice rinks are located in front of the Boat Rental Building, with one for general skating and two hockey rinks. The ice is in fair condition and could improve with colder temperatures. Limited food service is available, hours vary. Skating hours are 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. daily, depending upon weather conditions.

The park's four toboggan runs are closed at present, with three developed runs for advanced tobogganists and a smaller run for children. Light snow cover will probably provide adequate sledding conditions. These facilities are located at the Winter Sports Area and there is a warming shelter.

The Nature Center and nature trails are open daily, except Christmas and New Year's Day. Trail hours are 9 a.m. to dusk. During the week the building is closed mornings for school group use.

Park hours are daylight to 11 p.m. For additional information call the park: Phone 685-1561 (Milford)

Park personnel suggest all persons use care on all lakes in southeastern Michigan since winter conditions vary from day to day.

Metropolitan Beach near Mt. Clemens, Hudson Mills Metropolitan Park and Delhi and Dexter-Huron Parks, each northwest of Ann Arbor; and Lower Huron Metropolitan Park near Belleville are also open "year-around".

For information on winter facilities at these parks persons may contact: Metropolitan Beach HO 3-4581 (Mt. Clemens) or WO 3-3022 (Detroit Line); Lower Huron Metropolitan Park phone 697-9181; and for Delhi, Dexter-Huron and Hudson Mills Parks call 426-8211.

Persons, who have not yet received a Metropark Guide, may request one by writing to Metropark Guide, % Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority, 1750 Guardian Building, Detroit, MI 48226 or calling 961-5865 (DETROIT). The Metropark Guide for 1969-70 was introduced in August of this year.

Remember: Keep Trees Watered

All the known sprays, dips and special treatments still are no match for fresh Christmas trees standing in water.

Extensive testing indicates a fresh cut tree standing in water is as effective a fireproofing practice as the best spray-on materials known. Christmas trees will maintain this fireproof characteristic if you promptly cut one inch off the stump and stand the tree in water.

The water treatment will work faster if you soak the tree with a garden hose and keep the tree outside for a few days. The fragrance, freshness, beauty and fireproof characteristic can last up to three weeks if the water supply is maintained while the tree is indoors.

But some are too dry to absorb water. When you shop for a tree look for freshness. Be cautious of trees that are crisp or are dropping needles. If you notice your tree isn't absorbing water, then you aren't renewing the fireproof effect.
